Affixes in english exercises pdf

Prefixes and adjectives are very important in English. These are sets of letters that are often placed at the beginning of a word (prefix) or at the end of a word (suffix) to change its meaning. Click here for step-by-step rules, stories and exercises to practice all English Tenses That's why we often see words that look like, but have different principles or endings, and have similar meanings. Learning the most common prefixes and adjectives will help you learn many new vocabularies. Review the examples and tables in this article and practice with these worksheet prefixes and prefixes. You will start to feel comfortable with them very quickly! Prefixes and adjectives are two kinds of patches. Review them before continuing with these worksheets. First, let's end some of the most common prefixes and adjectives and how they are used. A prefix is a set of letters that is added to the beginning of a word to change its meaning. Each prefix has a general meaning, so you will be able to understand what a word with a prefix means more easily. Let's look at an example. Friendly friend The first man seems very friendly! I think it would be nice to spend time with him. The second man looks hostile. I don't think it would be much fun to spend time with him! We can see in the second sentence that we added the prefix un- to the word friendly. This prefix un- means no or the opposite of it. Here are more examples with the prefix un-: happy ----&t; unhappy finish ----&t; unfinished believable ----&t; incredible acceptable ----&t; unacceptable These words are all adjectives. We can also use the prefix un-with verbs. Look at these examples: ----&t; undo the plug ----&t; unplug When you see a word that begins with the prefix un-, you can know its meaning by looking at the root of the word (the part that is not the prefix or suffix). It could be a word you already know! But, be careful! Make sure you see the entire prefix before you decide the meaning of the word. Look at the word below: Let's try to find the prefix. Is it non-developed? No, that doesn't sound right! We know the word growth, which means growing up or becoming more advanced. That's the root of our speech! So the prefix must be down, which means down, down, down or not enough. The word underdeveloped means not quite developed The following table has a few common prefixes, their meaning and an example word. Prefix Meaning Example word dis-not, opposite disagree in-, im-not incorrect, impossible mis-mis-misunderstood again (do again) un- do not care down- down, down, down, not enough submarine A suffix is a set of letters added at the beginning of a word to its meaning. Each adjective has a general meaning, so you will be able to understand what a word with an adjective means more easily. Let's look at an example. This teddy bear is so cute and. And. We can see in the second sentence that we have added the adjective -capable to the word love. This adjective means capable or capable of being. So the word lovable means that something is able to be loved, or makes you feel love for it. Here are more examples with the adjective -capable or -ible (depending on the root word): show ----&t; responsible comfort ----&t; comfortable kit ----&t; reliable reach ----&t; accessible -capable is an example of an adjective adjective. Every time you see a word end in -capable, it's an adjective. Some epithets are nouns. They always make nouns. For example, -ment speaks of an action or a process: enjoy ----&t; treat enjoyment ----&t; treatment govern ----&t; government Remember the word underdeveloped that we are looking at a while ago? The root of this word is growth. The root is the same, but we have used the epithema noun, so this is the process or action of development. The following table has a few common adjectives, their meaning and an example word. Adjective Meaning Example word in place, -ible able to be terrible -ful full of beautiful -less have not, without toothless And here are some noun adjectives, their meaning, and an example word. Adjective Meaning Example of word -dom position or state of freedom -er a person who does worker-ment action or payment process -ness state of happiness Now that we have learned some common prefixes and adjectives, it's time to practice!
